February 2024 Monthly Report

- Countdown to the US election
- Geopolitics of little immediate concern to markets
- Behind the door of No 11 hides the Wizard of Oz

At the time of going to press, it looks almost certain that it will be Donald Trump in the red corner versus Joe Biden in the blue, slugging it out for the Presidency whose vote will be held appropriately on 5th November. While the noise is with Trump, the outcome is no foregone conclusion; the result will be decided not by the core constituents of either camp but the 15-20% of the electorate which is yet to make up its mind. From an investment perspective, in such binary situations we seldom pre-empt the outcome (though Trump's "drill, baby, drill!" energy stance was a contributing factor to the recent disposal of a dedicated energy fund from the Portfolios); rather than bet everything on black or red and spinning the wheel, we generally prefer to consider the potential ramifications and weigh up the options and then take the appropriate action, if any is needed, after the result is known.

February saw the dawn of the third year of major military conflict in Europe. With NATO still having no idea how to bring about a resolution and yet simultaneously weakening its resolve to keep the Ukrainian forces in the war (especially now that the $95bn 2024 military aid package for Ukraine, Israel and Taiwan is paralysed in the US Congress) the pendulum is moving back in favour of the Russians. But while in the past few weeks we have heard informed opinions in international defence circles harden on the likelihood of an all-out conflict with Russia (NATO estimates within 20-25 years; the German defence minister 5-8 years; the head of the Norwegian armed forces 3-5 years), investors find it difficult to know what to do with this other than to bear it in mind.

Markets prefer to keep their principal focus on things they can count, measure, quantify and compare. Almost inevitably their energies remain preoccupied with inflation, economic growth prospects, changes in monetary policy and the future trajectory of interest rates, as well as the risks and opportunities presented by the climate change and technological revolutions.

While the fixed income sector has remained volatile and hypersensitive to macro-economic data and reading the policy smoke signals emanating from the Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England, equities have been more preoccupied with the microenvironment of corporate earnings and prospects against a backdrop of US economic resilience but most European economies, including the UK, flatlining or flirting with recession.

Although after the month-end, at the time of writing the wholly underwhelming UK Budget has already been and gone. Jeremy Hunt has pulled off something almost unimaginable in an election year: managing to please virtually no-one and to dissatisfy almost everyone despite his 2p cut in the National Insurance rate. But worse was the acknowledgement from the Office of Budget Responsibility (OBR) that despite Hunt and Rishi Sunak being held up as safe economic hands, in fact the fiscal plan is barely half-baked: the OBR knows of the tax plan, but not of any departmental spending plans. Why? Because on the admission of the head of the OBR there aren't any. It's a chimera, like Dorothy in the Wizard of Oz pulling back the curtain only to find a little old man madly cranking handles. It remains an enduring mystery as to what the Chancellor has been doing to fill his time these past 17 months; it seems that the answer is not a lot!

The Jupiter Merlin Portfolios are long-term investments; they are certainly not immune from market volatility, but they are expected to be less volatile over time, depending on the risk tolerance of each. With liquidity uppermost in our mind, we seek to invest in funds run by experienced managers with a blend of styles but who share our core philosophy of trying to capture good performance in buoyant markets while minimising as far as possible the risk of losses in more challenging conditions.

Risks

Market and exchange rate movements can cause the value of an investment to fall as well as rise, and you may get back less than originally invested. Investors should carefully read the Key Investor Information Document (KIID), Supplementary Information Document (SID), Terms & Conditions (T&Cs) and Scheme Particulars before making an investment decision. The NURS KIID, SID, T&Cs and Scheme Particulars are available from Jupiter on request. For definitions please see the glossary of this factsheet or at www.jupiteram.com.

Fund Manager Style

The philosophy of unconstrained investing by the Jupiter Independent Funds Team adheres to the following principles:

Invest for the future

Make decisions looking forwards, not backwards, recognising that indices (benchmarks) at best reflect the current situation.

Invest with talented individuals

Investment is a people business; the skills of individuals (fund managers) and identification of their 'style bias' are critical for success.

Back your convictions

When you find the right combination of a fund manager with the 'wind behind them', make sure you have enough money invested with them to make a difference.

Regular withdrawal facility

This is available for all the Jupiter Merlin Portfolios with a minimum lump sum investment of £5,000 per portfolio. You can choose the amount paid to you each month or quarterly. Any such withdrawals which exceed investment returns will result in an erosion of capital.

Risks

Market and exchange rate movements can cause the value of an investment to fall as well as rise, and you may get back less than originally invested. Investors should carefully read the Key Investor Information Document (KIID), Supplementary Information Document (SID), Terms & Conditions (T&Cs) and Scheme Particulars before making an investment decision. The fund can invest up to 10% of the portfolio in high yield bonds and can also invest in bonds which are not rated by a credit rating agency. While such bonds may offer a higher income the interest paid on them and their capital value is at greater risk of not being repaid, particularly during periods of changing market conditions. The level of monthly income payments may fluctuate. A portion of the fund's expenses are charged to capital, which can reduce the potential for capital growth. The KIID, SID, T&Cs and Scheme Particulars are available from Jupiter on request. This fund can invest more than 35% of its value in securities issued or guaranteed by an EEA state. Jupiter Factsheets - Glossary of Terms

Absolute return: the total return of an asset, portfolio or fund over a given period of time OR an investment approach that attempts to achieve a return which is not benchmarked against an index.

Ask / Bid price: the lowest price a seller is willing to sell a security for / the highest price a buyer is willing to pay for a security.

Bond: a debt instrument ('I Owe You') issued by a company (corporate bond), government (sovereign/government bond) or other institution in order to raise money. In most cases, bonds pay a fixed interest rate (coupon) over a fixed period of time and will be repaid on a particular date. See Coupon.

Convertibles: securities (e.g. bonds or preference shares) that can be exchanged at some point in the future for a specified number of shares at a specified price of the company issuing the securities. See Bond.

Coupon: denotes the interest in % paid on a bond See Bond.

Credit rating: an assessment of a borrower's credit worthiness, i.e. the likelihood of the borrower to repay its debts.

Derivative: a financial instrument that derives its value from its underlying assets. Common underlying assets include stocks, bonds, commodities, currencies, interest rates and market indices. Futures contracts, forward contracts, options and swaps are the most common types of derivatives. Derivatives can be purchased 'on margin', i.e. at a fraction of the value of the underlying asset. Thus, they are 'leveraged' instruments where the risk of loss can be greater than the initial outlay. Derivatives can be used like insurance contracts (i.e. to hedge market risk) or for investment purposes. See Hedge, Leverage.

Distribution Yield: reflects the amounts that may be expected to be distributed over the next twelve months as a percentage of the price of the fund as at the date shown. It is based on a snapshot of the portfolio on that day. It does not include any preliminary charge and investors may be subject to tax on distributions.

Duration/Modified Duration: Duration estimates the sensitivity of a bond or bond fund to changes in interest rates. It is measured in years. The longer a bond's duration, the more sensitive it is to interest rate movements. Modified duration estimates the effect that a 1% change in interest rates will have on the price of a bond or bond fund.

Economic Gross: the gross exposure adjusted to account for investments with mutually exclusive outcomes, for example a short position hedge on a share that is also held as a long position. See Gross exposure, Long/short position, Hedge.

Effective duration: estimates the sensitivity of a bond's price to changes in benchmark interest rates. Effective duration is required for the measurement of interest rate risk for complex types of bonds. See Bond.

Engagement: means dialogue with management teams and boards, including non-executive directors. Engagement enables us to assess and influence how businesses are managed.

Equity: a share representing an ownership interest in a company. Equity market means stock market.

Exchange Traded Fund (ETF): a fund vehicle that is traded like a stock on a stock exchange. It is used to track and mimic the performance of a specific market index.

Exposure: describes the level of risk to a particular asset, asset type, sector, market or government. Also, the directional market exposure of a (absolute return) fund. See Absolute Return, Gross/Net exposure.

Fixed interest/income: denotes debt instruments (securities) that pay a fixed interest rate (e.g. bond, commercial paper). Also, a universal term for bond or debt investing. See Bond.

Floating rate note (FRN): a bond with a variable interest rate. The interest rate is variable as it is tied to a benchmark such as LIBOR (London Interbank Offered Rate). See Bond.

Futures: an exchange traded contract between two parties to buy or sell a commodity or a financial instrument at a pre-determined price at a future date. See Bond Future, Derivative.

Gearing: measures a company's borrowings (debt) as a proportion of assets. See Leverage.

Gross exposure: the percentage value of the long positions plus the percentage value of the short positions. See Net exposure.

Hedge: an investment designed to reduce the risk of adverse price movements in an asset by taking an offsetting position. Derivatives are usually used as hedging tools. See Derivative.

High Water Mark: the highest level that a fund's net asset value (NAV) has reached at the end of any 12-month accounting period. See Net Asset Value.

High yield bond: a bond with a high coupon payment and typically a low/no credit rating (below investment grade, e.g. BBB-). See Bond, Coupon.

Historic yield: reflects distributions declared over the past twelve months as a percentage of the price, as at the date shown. It does not include any initial charge and investors may be subject to tax on their distributions.

Hurdle Rate: the minimum level of return required before a fund can charge a performance fee. See Performance fee.

Leverage: the use of financial instruments (e.g. debt) to increase the potential return of an investment. See Notional value.

Liquidity: measures how easily an asset or security can be converted into cash.

Long/short position: a long position is buying a security with the expectation that it will deliver a positive return if its value goes up and a negative return if its value falls. Conversely, a short position involves selling a borrowed security with the expectation of buying it back at a lower price to make a profit. However, if the security goes up in value, a short position will make a loss.

Maturity: refers to a finite time period at the end of which a security/debt instrument is due to be repaid. See Bond.

Money market: markets in which short-term (less than one year) debt instruments are traded. Money market instruments are typically cash deposits and commercial papers.

Net asset value (NAV): in relation to a fund, the market value of its assets less its liabilities. The market value is usually determined by the price at which an investor can redeem shares.

Net exposure: the percentage value of the long positions less the percentage value of the short positions. See Gross Exposure, Long/short Position.

Non-rated bonds: bonds that are not rated. See Bond.

Notional value: commonly used in relation to a derivative, denotes the theoretical value of its underlying asset. See Derivative.

Open-ended Investment Company (OEIC): a fund vehicle, which can issue a limitless number of shares whose value are directly linked to the value of its underlying investments. OEICs normally list a single price based on the NAV. See Net Asset Value.

Performance fee: a fee paid to an asset manager for generating positive returns above a hurdle rate.

Share: a unit of ownership interest in a company or financial asset. Also Equity.

SICAV: Société d'Investissement à Capital Variable. A type of open-ended fund widely used in Europe.

Spread: the difference between the bid and the ask price of a single security. It can also refer to the difference in price between two securities. See Ask/Bid price.

Stewardship: our responsibility to understand and manage investment risks we take on behalf of our clients. We consider material Environmental, Social and Governance ('ESG') information in the same way as we consider other types of investment analysis. These three factors enable us to evaluate how companies interact with the Environment (such as climate change), Society (human rights) and Governance (management). Stewardship entails a responsibility to monitor and engage with the companies in which we invest.

Sustainability: by appropriately considering ESG risks and engaging with companies, we strive to generate long term, sustainable returns for our clients.

Total return: the capital gain or loss plus any income generated by an investment over a given period.

Underlying Yield: reflects the amounts that may be expected to be distributed, net of expenses, over the next twelve months as a percentage of the price of the fund as at the date shown. It is based on a snapshot of the portfolio on that day. It does not include any preliminary charge and investors may be subject to tax on distributions.

Unit Trust: A fund vehicle which can issue a limitless number of units whose value are directly linked to the value of its underlying investments. Jupiter Unit Trusts are single priced, which means they have one price for buying and selling.

Value at Risk (VaR): value at Risk, a mathematical way of measuring the maximum expected loss of an investment over a period of time.

Volatility: measures how much the price of a security moves up or down over a period of time. A stock that experiences big price swings has high volatility, while one which moves up or down in smaller increments has low volatility.

Yield to Maturity (YTM): measures the annual return an investor can anticipate for holding a particular bond until it matures. When considering an entire bond portfolio, an average yield is used based on the weightings of individual bonds within that portfolio.
